

July 4 to Be Big Day for Ft. Chaffee Refugees, Too

By James Johnson
FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. — The 13,717 Vietnamese refugees here are preparing to celebrate their first Independence Day in their new land with a picnic, parties, fireworks, and a fireworks display.

The celebration is being organized by a group of students and after women from Russellville, animal airlines in Dallas who have been working in Vietnam in the camp. "A lot of these women became concerned about the refugees when they came to know them back during the baby kill," said Lt. Col. Mark Thayer, Army spokesman for the all the refugees living in the camp. "I think they said they will meet about $2,000 for the celebration," he said. Thayer said the Army is supporting the celebration but that such extras as the fireworks display are being financed by private donations.

The most recent influx of 4,000 Vietnamese who arrived Thursday marked the end of efforts to move the refugees living in the camp. "I think they said they will meet about $2,000 for the celebration," he said. Thayer said the Army is supporting the celebration but that such extras as the fireworks display are being financed by private donations.

Mrs. Bonnie Becker and her students concentrate on social studies in the small classroom.

CHURCH HAS MODERN VERSION Enid One-Room School Survives

By John Johnson
ENID — The one-room Enid Church School is celebrating its 100th birthday this year. For many years, it was the only school in the town. It was built in 1875 and has since been renovated several times.

The school is located on the corner of 1st and Main streets. It is a small, one-story building with a gabled roof. The interior has been modernized, but the original structure remains.
