

2 Saturday, August 31, 1968 The Hanford Sentinel

Ambassador Meets Buried
THE LATE U.S. Ambassador to Guatemala, John Gordon Mein, was buried in Rios Creek Cemetery today after being returned from Guatemala Wednesday. Mein was accompanied by numerous family members and friends. Mein is shown visiting her grave during the graveside service.

State Chamber Slates Campaign on Boycott
SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California State Chamber of Commerce has launched a counter-campaign against the nationwide boycott against California table grapes.

Dr. A.C. Beckman, president of the state chamber, said he has sent more than $10,000 letters to business leaders, trade associations and chambers of commerce throughout the U.S. In the letter, Dr. Beckman urges a massive effort to offset effects of the boycott in all states would be affected adversely.

Rancheria Celebrates
"Santa Rosa Day" is being celebrated today at La Tula, Santa Rosa Rancheria beginning at 1 p.m. and the public has been invited to attend.

Obituaries
Benjamin Erisman
A military funeral service conducted by American Legion Post 171 of Avenal will be held for Benjamin J. Erisman Sr., 71, of Avenal who died Friday in a Palo Alto hospital Tuesday at 5 p.m.

198 Work Scheduled
LEMOORE — The Fresno office of the Division of Highways reported there will be a construction project in progress on Tuesday and Wednesday on route 198 between Route 41 and the Main Gate of the Lemoore Naval Air Station.

The Hanford Sentinel
Published by The Hanford Sentinel Co., 111 W. Main St., Hanford, Calif. 93231.
Entered as second-class matter at Post Office at Hanford, California, March 18, 1925, under no. 474,569.
The Hanford Sentinel is a member of Audit Bureau of Circulations and is registered with the United States Postal Service as a newspaper.
Subscription price: $10 per month in advance. Single copies 25¢.
Telephone 582-0471

Moscow To Pressure Romania Too

LONDON (UPI) — Moscow apparently has decided to force Romania to take the Soviet line and is leveling all options open to get its way, including possible military intervention, diplomatic sources said today.

The Kremlin pressures on Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu are being kept up by all means, diplomatic and military, the sources said.

The sources were said to be part of a general policy switch in the Kremlin. It aims at tightening the East bloc and restoring the Soviet role in the East.

It is the conditions in which Moscow once again calls the tune — without opposition. Diplomatic reports reaching the West from East Europe warned "anything is possible" now that the East bloc is subordinated on a Salsky-type strategy in the East European region. They said the Russians eventually want to force East European nations back to "satellite" status.

Diplomatic reports said the size of the force which Moscow has been deploying in the Czech operation — some 500,000 troops according to official Czech estimates — is a far cry from the 100,000 troops which the Russians have been preparing for a winter target.

Western intelligence reports the Russians also have massed troops in Bessarabia, close to the Romanian border.

The Russians apparently would prefer to get their way in Bucharest by means of a war of nerves, rather than by outright military force. Psychological pressure as well as diplomatic are being applied on Ceausescu on an increasing scale, and at the same time, also on Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

This has warned the Russians publicly that it would fight any Soviet aggression, the diplomatic reports said. Ceausescu has been pressing for the Czech invasion but was turned down by the Russians. This, it was said, had finally crushed the military in 1948 the Russians would have been faced with many problems.

On this line of reasoning an intervention in Romania might well become feasible in the present dangerous mood of the Soviet leadership.

Heart, Three Other Organs of Woman Used in Transplant

HOUSTON (UPI)—Five months after hospital operating teams from seven countries started directed by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, doctors decided only a kidney transplant would benefit and three other organs of a man to survive.

Dr. DeBakey, director of the Texas Medical Center, said the four different recipients today in an operation, was completed today.

Doctors also prepared to transplant the woman's corneas.

The donor of the heart, two kidneys and a lung was Mrs. Mrs. Los Hernandez, 20, who died of a gunshot wound in the head.

Her heart was given to William C. Kaiser, 41, of Houston, Tex. The other went to Thomas A. Stevenson, 22, of Houston.

The patients were reported in satisfactory condition after the transplant.

The multiple transplants were part of a program at Baylor University's College of Medicine aimed at using as many donor organs as possible.

The long transplant was the first at Methodist, which is in the Texas Medical Center, traditional home site of Dr. DeBakey.

The kidney operations were the first and second such transplants at Methodist, and Dr. DeBakey, who was his second "harvested kidney."

Dr. DeBakey said he received a kidney in transplant May 1 from heart-lung donor Charles B. Brown of Houston, but the kidney did not function.

A line of six police walked down a two-block street where the crowd of about 800 was gathered, asking people to clear the streets. They did not crowd off the cars upon the police line passed. Some in the crowd shouted obscenities and called the police "pigs."

Berkeley

The incidents occurred near the campus on roughly the same spot where a violent anti-style confrontation between police and student activists occurred two months ago. Both sides had said they would try to prevent violence this time.

The rally broke up shortly after 1 p.m., with permits to use the streets expired. A police spokesman said most of the crowd of 2,500 left the area after the rally.

It had been called to show support for senior demonstrators' request to be removed from the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

The Young Socialist Alliance, the Independent Socialist Club, Black Panther Party and the Peace and Freedom party organized the demonstration.

Witnesses said youths who remained when the rally ended suddenly broke windows at a Bank of America office and threw red paint on the front door.

A line of six police walked down a two-block street where the crowd of about 800 was gathered, asking people to clear the streets. They did not crowd off the cars upon the police line passed. Some in the crowd shouted obscenities and called the police "pigs."

Dr. DeBakey said he received a kidney in transplant May 1 from heart-lung donor Charles B. Brown of Houston, but the kidney did not function.

A line of six police walked down a two-block street where the crowd of about 800 was gathered, asking people to clear the streets. They did not crowd off the cars upon the police line passed. Some in the crowd shouted obscenities and called the police "pigs."

Dr. DeBakey said he received a kidney in transplant May 1 from heart-lung donor Charles B. Brown of Houston, but the kidney did not function.

A line of six police walked down a two-block street where the crowd of about 800 was gathered, asking people to clear the streets. They did not crowd off the cars upon the police line passed. Some in the crowd shouted obscenities and called the police "pigs."

Dr. DeBakey said he received a kidney in transplant May 1 from heart-lung donor Charles B. Brown of Houston, but the kidney did not function.

A line of six police walked down a two-block street where the crowd of about 800 was gathered, asking people to clear the streets. They did not crowd off the cars upon the police line passed. Some in the crowd shouted obscenities and called the police "pigs."

Historic Effort

Heart, Three Other Organs of Woman Used in Transplant

HOUSTON (UPI)—Five months after hospital operating teams from seven countries started directed by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, doctors decided only a kidney transplant would benefit and three other organs of a man to survive.

Dr. DeBakey, director of the Texas Medical Center, said the four different recipients today in an operation, was completed today.

Doctors also prepared to transplant the woman's corneas.

The donor of the heart, two kidneys and a lung was Mrs. Mrs. Los Hernandez, 20, who died of a gunshot wound in the head.

Her heart was given to William C. Kaiser, 41, of Houston, Tex. The other went to Thomas A. Stevenson, 22, of Houston.

The patients were reported in satisfactory condition after the transplant.

The multiple transplants were part of a program at Baylor University's College of Medicine aimed at using as many donor organs as possible.

The long transplant was the first at Methodist, which is in the Texas Medical Center, traditional home site of Dr. DeBakey.

The kidney operations were the first and second such transplants at Methodist, and Dr. DeBakey, who was his second "harvested kidney."

Dr. DeBakey said he received a kidney in transplant May 1 from heart-lung donor Charles B. Brown of Houston, but the kidney did not function.

A line of six police walked down a two-block street where the crowd of about 800 was gathered, asking people to clear the streets. They did not crowd off the cars upon the police line passed. Some in the crowd shouted obscenities and called the police "pigs."

Dr. DeBakey said he received a kidney in transplant May 1 from heart-lung donor Charles B. Brown of Houston, but the kidney did not function.

A line of six police walked down a two-block street where the crowd of about 800 was gathered, asking people to clear the streets. They did not crowd off the cars upon the police line passed. Some in the crowd shouted obscenities and called the police "pigs."

Dr. DeBakey said he received a kidney in transplant May 1 from heart-lung donor Charles B. Brown of Houston, but the kidney did not function.

A line of six police walked down a two-block street where the crowd of about 800 was gathered, asking people to clear the streets. They did not crowd off the cars upon the police line passed. Some in the crowd shouted obscenities and called the police "pigs."

Nixon Readies Opening of Campaign

REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTIAL candidate Richard M. Nixon talks to reporters at an airport in New York as he returns from a Florida vacation. Nixon's campaign for the presidency will open in Chicago Wednesday, although he said his choice of an opening campaign site was chosen well before the Democratic caucus campaign there.

Weather Temps

The current hot spell in California began to break Friday as the weather pattern allowed cooling sea breezes to move ashore. San Francisco dropped 22 degrees to a low Friday of 52.

Prospects are good that temperatures should drop 10 to 15 degrees in the delta area today. Fresno's high of 105 Friday was the highest temperature for that city since 1918.

Even though there may be a slight drop in temperature, the pressure will continue to dominate the California weather for the next two to three days.

Funds Approved

Kings County Health Department has announced the approval of a request of $6,000 in categorical funds to the mothers and children of Kings County for maternal and child health. Work of the grant was received from the California State Department of Public Health.

The grant was received from the California State Department of Public Health.

The grant was received from the California State Department of Public Health.

The grant was received from the California State Department of Public Health.

The grant was received from the California State Department of Public Health.

The grant was received from the California State Department of Public Health.

The grant was received from the California State Department of Public Health.

The grant was received from the California State Department of Public Health.

The grant was received from the California State Department of Public Health.

Wallace Demands Part In Televised Debates

OSBORNVILLE, Va. (UPI) — When it comes to televised debates among presidential candidates, George Wallace does not think there is a crowd.

The third party candidate, who received an enthusiastic reception by thousands in his home state, said Friday he should be included with Democratic and Republican nominees.

A three-page panel said Wallace's American Independent Party was qualified only for write-in space on the Ohio ballot, and at the same time, said the state election laws were unconstitutional because of the limitations on third party candidates.

As late as Wallace said the U.S. Supreme Court appeal probably would be filed Tuesday.

Man Jailed In Assault

Jerry Lee Webster, 27, of Kingsport was booked at Kings County Jail Friday evening for allegedly assaulting Highway Patrolman Jerry Swamy.

The Highway Patrol said Swamy was dispatched to investigate a minor accident on the Harris Park access road and found that Webster's auto had run off the curving roadway.

The patrol said Webster denied being the driver and when Swamy's head was turned toward the officer, he was booked for assault on a peace officer and resisting arrest.

Samuel Ramon Knowles, 219, Mariner Circle, Lemoore 93240, was booked Friday for drunken driving.

Two Men Hurt In Accident

Two Hanford men were injured early this morning when their auto ran off Wilson Lane north of Lacey Boulevard, struck a concrete wall, then slammed into a cul-de-sac.

Taken to General Hospital for treatment after the 1 a.m. crash were driver Kenneth Willard Evans, 34, 4030 Curtis St., and passenger Michael Leroy Perry, 20, 1433 Mary St.

The auto was southbound when Evans lost control. The crash presented a momentary jurisdictional problem since it started inside the city limits, but few days in July Friday in Lemoore Justice Court on a drunken driving charge.

The auto was southbound when Evans lost control. The crash presented a momentary jurisdictional problem since it started inside the city limits, but few days in July Friday in Lemoore Justice Court on a drunken driving charge.

The auto was southbound when Evans lost control. The crash presented a momentary jurisdictional problem since it started inside the city limits, but few days in July Friday in Lemoore Justice Court on a drunken driving charge.

The auto was southbound when Evans lost control. The crash presented a momentary jurisdictional problem since it started inside the city limits, but few days in July Friday in Lemoore Justice Court on a drunken driving charge.

The auto was southbound when Evans lost control. The crash presented a momentary jurisdictional problem since it started inside the city limits, but few days in July Friday in Lemoore Justice Court on a drunken driving charge.

The auto was southbound when Evans lost control. The crash presented a momentary jurisdictional problem since it started inside the city limits, but few days in July Friday in Lemoore Justice Court on a drunken driving charge.

The auto was southbound when Evans lost control. The crash presented a momentary jurisdictional problem since it started inside the city limits, but few days in July Friday in Lemoore Justice Court on a drunken driving charge.