

Sapulpa Daily

HERALD

Vol. 41—No. 256—22 Pages

Sapulpa, Okla. 74066 Friday, July 11, 1975—SINGLE COPY 15¢

The Editor's
Notebook

By ED LIVERMORE

WOULDN'T you know it? Now the CIA has been charged as handling a plot to overthrow Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

FROM THIS DAY forward, after the news and rumors concerning Indira Gandhi's activities, on-line something happens in the world it will be listed as a CIA plot.

PERSONALLY, I wish the US CIA was capable of doing all of the misdeeds of which it is being charged. We would feel far more secure in this troubled world if we were convinced that US intelligence operations were as effective as those of Russia and even Japan.

INTERNATIONAL SPY work has been a part of global relations since the first trading ships started sailing the seas. If a government can't take steps to protect its own interest, who will do so?

AFTER THE HEARING, accusations, and damaging statements about our intelligence work in the US, appears we are now back to square one in developing intelligence on the activities of adversaries abroad. It may be years before we realize just how much damage the recent CIA investigations have done to the security of this country.

Watergate Sentences Trimmed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, following a pattern he has set for major Watergate figures, today reduced the sentences of four Cuban-Americans involved in hugging Democrat party headquarters in late January.

The order will mean the most to Watergate conspirator Bernard L. Barker, who had been faced with returning to prison for at least five more months. The other three Cubans—Frank A. Sargis, Eusebio R. Martinez and Virgilio R. Gonzalez—have been in parole for more than a year after serving their sentences and so Sirica's order has the effect simply of erasing their prison.

The four men were arrested at Democratic party headquarters at Watergate on June 17, 1972 and pleaded guilty the following January to conspiracy, burglary, hugging and wiretapping.

The 100 men arrested with them, James W. McCord Jr., then security chief for President Nixon's reelection campaign, was convicted and sentenced to prison but was released May 29 this year on Sirica's order.

The devices, it is unfair for national banks to have them. If the Tulsa National Bank of Oklahoma operates their customer bank communications terminals after Friday, this office will initiate suit in federal court," Leonard said.

Although the federal comptroller of the currency recently ruled national banks had the right to operate remote units, Leonard said he considered them violations of the McFadden Act, which regulates national banks by limiting the state law forbidding branch banking.

"The act says national banks can't do anything else but be in the state banking law," Leonard said. "This is to insure and maintain a competitive equality."

Utica opened two terminals at Southland Shopping Center July 1 and Bank of Oklahoma (formerly National Bank of Tulsa) plans to begin operating a similar unit Monday.

Utica president V.M. Thompson Thursday said their remote unit Monday as a test of the state banking law. "We've taken the position we're operating under regulations passed by the comptroller of the currency," Eaton said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said. BOB president Leonard Eaton said he had intended to go ahead with plans to activate their remote unit Monday as a test of the state banking law.

"We've taken the position we're operating under regulations passed by the comptroller of the currency," Eaton said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said.

"We are convinced they are lawful and not in violation of any law," Thompson said.

US Jury Acquits Prison Guards

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UPI)—A federal court jury today found nine present and former state prison guards innocent of all charges resulting from causing of inmates during prison disturbances.

The jury of 10 men and two women deliberated an hour and 15 minutes today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

A conspiracy count was dismissed earlier this week, and it remained today before returning the verdict.

The government prosecutors had called the causing an execution, claiming inmate Robert Forney died from the effects of heat stroke. The defense argued the action was necessary to prevent a prison break and riot.

NEWLY APPOINTED SAPULPA POSTMASTER A.E. Garrett, left, gets acquainted with the city via a map with the help of supervisor of mail Grant Watkins. Garrett has been with the postal service for the past 30 years and has served as officer in charge of two Tulsa stations and the Cushing Post Office. (Herald Photo)

CIA Infiltration Of White House?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

But he rejected suggestions that Butterfield was spying on the White House for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Privately said today Alexander M. Butterfield, the former presidential aide who declined the existence of the Watergate tapes, was a CIA "contact" man in the White House.

75 Strike Ardmore City Jobs

ARDMORE, Okla. (UPI)—City Manager John Harrison today ordered police to keep striking employees off city property.

The strikers, who were ordered to leave the street from garage and sanitation department jobs in sympathy.

The strike involved more than 75 employees in four departments: sanitation and cemetery workers demanded higher pay and water and garage department employees walked off their jobs in sympathy.

Five units of the Oklahoma Highway Patrol were stationed at city hall and all off-duty policemen were called back to work. All major city facilities were given police guards.

The city landfill was opened and citizens were told they could dispose of trash there. Two department heads have resigned or been fired since the strike began Wednesday.

Harrison in a press release issued today said Jeff Sontano resigned as garage department superintendent effective July 21, stating he did not want to be a part of the strike situation.

Glen Cargill, acting superintendent of the water department, said Harrison told him Thursday, "Take two weeks off and get out of town." He said Harrison told him he would not be paid for the two weeks.

When Cargill reported the commotion to his employees, all of their jobs.

Police Chief Frank Lindsey said Harrison told him Thursday, "Take two weeks off and get out of town." He said Harrison told him he would not be paid for the two weeks.

Lindsey said he was ordered to guard city buildings and grounds 24 hours a day until the strike in arrears. He said he assigned 10 off-duty officers to the detail.

Public Works Director Ron Holt said he expects to resume all city services by early next week but refused to say how he planned to do it.

"It's my problem, and I'll have to work it out," Holt said. City commissioners met in closed session for three hours Thursday, apparently trying to find a solution to the strike.

Little League Section Today

Teen photos of Sapulpa's little league ball team are included in a special section in today's Herald.

Eighteen by sixteen copies of the team pictures may be ordered using the blank provided on page 8. More than 80 team photos are available for order.

Incidentally

Tom Bennett is not looking forward to his birthday, and more likely to be asked to let him forget he will be thirty.

The Water Department says that they have lost two black leather water meter recent books and would appreciate having them returned if anyone should find them. They were lost in the downtown area.

washing cars Saturday at Rock Creek Center will be members of the First United Methodist Church youth department. Happy Birthday Friday to Dale Ray Thomas who is stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. ... and Happy Birthday Saturday to Steven who is six years old.

The Herald invites Dave Smith and guest to its "The Island At The Top Of The World" showing tonight at the Opera. Present this clipping at the box office.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.

Butterfield, a former Air Force colonel who resigned recently as head of the Federal Aviation Administration, was unavailable for comment.