SEATTLE (AP) — Representatives of the city, police, merchants and "street people" agreed at a meeting at the University of Washington Saturday to work together to ease tensions in Seattle's University District—the scene of street violence three times last week.

Pepper Fogger Stops Unruly Youth in Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle police used a new weapon—a pepper fogger—in their clash Thursday night with hundreds of unruly youths in the University District. It proved highly effective.

The pepper fogger is a machine powered with a gas canister which can throw out a spray of tear gas or a smoke screen from a moving patrol car.

Tear gas was relied on for the most part to disperse milling crowds in the business district adjoining the University of Washington campus in those nights of disturbances during the week.

Witnesses said the pepper fogger filled 25 blocks of a street with tear gas in about a minute.

A police spokesman said two types of tear gas were used during the rioting: one known as CN and a more powerful one known as CS.

He said CS is a more powerful chemical, is not new part of the police arsenal.

The 10000 police sent to the district were riot equipped with helmets, gas masks and tear gas.

New Dam Site Would Spare Park

SWEET HOME — The California Reservoir dam project on the South Santiam River

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has proposed moving the dam several miles downstream from the originally planned site as the park will be spared, it calls the decision "tentative" pending a Sept. 18 sources said Saturday. The in-termediate and the 14 National Park Service officials who are asked that the Korean question be placed on the agenda of the assembly which starts Sept. 18

Jan. Thust, a spokesman for the street, caucus, presented three demands at the open session: that police on the beat in the area be dismissed, that there be fewer officers on the beat and that there be amnesty for those arrested last week.

"We want to get the hell out," Devine said the gathering. "But the streets belong to everyone in the city and we're going to make them safe for everyone in the city."

Devine said the city could not eliminate police from officers as agreed to the University District, but said it was a possibility for later.

Those attending the meeting said the agreement on the city can't help preserve peace cause as a compromise.

On-the-Job Horseplay Risky Joke

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Horseplay with iron gas in about a minute.

Commerce Clearing House said when a worker said a stunt that could have or did ac-charge can be upheld.

The degree of discipline tol-erated by arbitrators is directly proportional to the type of conduct involved and the employer's discipline record.

One employee lost his job when he performed a variation of the "hot line" gag — he put light-the South Santiam River — probably will not insulate Cascade State Park after all.

Earlier it was thought fish would need to pass both up-stream and downstream, and upstream passage would be difficult, Banger said.

Only part of Cascade Park (bordered by the new dam) would be the mineral spring and a small lake could be constructed to protect it, Banger added.

No date has been set for construction of the dam. It is later, public works projects have been delayed because of the financial squeeze due to the Vietnam War.
